The Moral Destruction of the United States of America

*Where have you gone, Joe DiMaggio,
A nation turns its lonely eyes to you...
What's that you say, Mrs. Robinson,
Joltin' Joe has left and gone away...
-Simon & Garfunkel, 1968⁶⁹⁰*

It began in Dallas, Texas in the fall of November 1963 while an open-top limousine surrounded by cheering crowds slowly cruised by. To be sure, a plan was in the works to fundamentally alter both foreign⁶⁹¹ and domestic policy while President John Fitzgerald Kennedy was sitting in that limo captured on film by Ukrainian-born Abraham Zapruder. While the events of that day are seared into the memories of so many, young and old, many still do not question the premise that Lee Harvey Oswald did the deed alone. Anyone saying otherwise, without a level of proof that a prosecutor allegedly needs to convict a person with, garners the label a “conspiracy theorist.” A label deployed routinely by the most likely perpetrators of this heinous act: the CIA. The CIA media lackeys do so as well; as Operation Mockingbird is well-known and used to this very day.

Whether one believes a conspiracy – just two or more parties planning (and executing) on their illegal scheme – is beside the point. The policies of Lyndon Baines Johnson did their job to get the United States into Vietnam fully, killing over 50,000 U.S. soldiers and well beyond a million lives in total, while LBJ’s domestic policies expanded the “butter” part of the plan: welfare expansion (Medicare) and women’s liberation.^{692,693}

Such “liberations” always come with a social price. Family instability started with the same ideas that are infused in the 21st century UN/WEF agenda at hand: lack of marriage, divorces, lowered birth rates, removal of men from households, and children indoctrinated, not educated, by a majority of female teachers away from understanding their country’s rights, rules, and responsibilities. Instead, the focus grew on criticizing, not critical thinking that help one navigate an enormously complex world, impacting them from one’s local street to half a world away.

The 4th wave of feminism, in the first score of the 21st century, makes the 2nd wave, in the 1960s, seem like a non-poisonous snake that could be avoided without any harms. While one can contend rightly enough the issue has always been men – and certainly, men make deadly wars at the behest of hidden and powerful financial racketeers, who exist, but no one dare name them – it is often shown women, do control social spaces and interactions, and make for the most easily agitated towards any social engineering, by psychologically-minded men, and women, alike.

Edward Bernays proved such with his most overtly successful propaganda campaign in encouraging women to smoke, using an Easter Parade to attract media attention.⁶⁹⁴ Before long, many Hollywood films of the Greatest Generation, used women as props to sell smoking further, building a consumer market and driving up American tobacco company’s profits. Bernays’s gigs grew in complexity to include helping the CIA.⁶⁹⁵

Consumerism was tied into what was then called “happiness machines,”⁶⁹⁶ the manufacturing of consent, by social engineers. During this post-WW2’s “peace dividend”, both sexes focused on families, growing a middle class with traditional roles, after their mutual sacrifices made (men serving at the war front, women in heavy industrial plants making all manner of war instruments and supplies). But neither peace, nor focus on families, particularly served forces inside the United States, or growing resentment blocs by people outside of U.S. borders.

Inside was driven by communist and fascistic forces. The politics of the time heavily focused on commie hunts from the late 1940s through to JFK’s administration, more than who was parked in Washington, D.C.: an ever-growing effort to congeal a bureaucracy with intelligence and military planning institutions. The media of the time was more varied, but sliding quickly towards supporting socialist-minded people because of their underdog status. Corporations expanded off international trade, necessitating further government “controls” with regard to their industrial wears being reversed-engineered for military applications.

Nevertheless, people were weary of both sorts of radicalism overtly preached, as the memories of 1930s and 40s were none too distant from their memories and they knew what those forces did vividly. They killed tens of millions through starvation, internment camps, mass executions, and ultimately, men serving in war to stop the killing, by killing each other, until one side no longer existed militarily.

Outside the U.S., as the CIA was set loose to build front operations and trek the globe⁶⁹⁷, gathering intel with a suite of tools and methods (some provided by Bernays to Central America and the Middle East), the enemies of United States both existed; and were routinely created. When international politicians displeased the State Department and Pentagon bureaucrats, personally or otherwise, secret operations (undoubtedly, not all thoroughly approved by the sitting President⁶⁹⁸) occurred to correct those political deficits in countries meant to stay on the United States’s side. Against existing and substantial forces, a Cold War Doctrine developed as well from George Kennan’s 1946 “Long Telegram” to engage and check Stalin’s USSR bid for implementing worldwide communism.⁶⁹⁹

This doctrine responded to the communistic pushes born immediately in the aftermath of a Nazi-destroyed Eastern Europe. While the Nazis were “mostly” vanquished from Germany, they were not erased in their entirety – as some highly talented, if perverted scientific minds, received refuge via Allen Dulles inside the U.S. State Department through Operation Sunrise; and at Pentagon in Operation Paperclip.⁷⁰⁰

After World War 2 ended, first through Marshall Plan, and later, the reinstallation of Nazi personnel in West Germany and Italy (Operation Gladio^{701, 702}), and by proxy war, a globalized chessboard, with pawns trekking from Europe to Korea to Cuba, and most detrimentally, Vietnam, moved on command through various presidencies. By whose direct command, depended on the nature of the tasks and the desire for “plausible deniability” if not the outright ignoring of the commander-in-chief’s orders as occurred under Truman.⁷⁰³ (Showing such deep state coups long pre-dated the ignoring of Trump’s directives and policies.)

Minor theatres of destabilization formed whenever a rogue nation-state through “their king” chose their own direction, regarding either the US, or the USSR’s interest in them. And such interest sprung up routinely in Africa, South America, and Asian countries. This ultimate chess game required a countering move to their Cold War foe – often with few of the common people knowing much, if anything, about which superpower, the US, or the USSR, was providing the most provocative actions to get “regime change.” Again, deniability provided cover for many years – and only after a declassification of documents does one realize the story sold by mockingbird media was half-lies and overt fabrications to keep the people in the dark about their government’s absolute malevolence, whether US or USSR, or both. And, to what degree all governments are merely controlled opposition by stealthy financial forces that propagate a military marketing strategy that would make Bernays blush with delight.

Operation Paperclip: Germans coming to the USA, post-WWII 704, 705

Many socialists at home, people like Betty Friedan, were not pleased. Her history, prior to the 1960s, betrayed a deep yearning for a communist

United States – that of complete liberation, even under complete enslavement to one’s hedonistic desires, to follow, for the masses she encouraged subtlety towards that liberating utopia in her release of The Feminine Mystique. She was not alone in this peculiarity of thinking. The New York Times Pulitzer prize-winning Walter Duranty wrote during her childhood trek – age 10, in 1931⁷⁰⁶ – a false USSR’s utopia while the beginnings of the Holodomor was seared firmly into Ukrainian minds and souls.⁷⁰⁷ His 11-part series won that Pulitzer for correspondence.

Friedan, under her maiden name Goldstein, was a Marxist-Leninist activist from the age of her majority to her publication of The Feminine Mystique as David Horowitz noted in 1999 publication, “Betty Friedan’s Secret Communist Past.” Her life was hardly repressive as, “Her husband, Carl, also a leftist, once complained that his wife ‘was in the world during the whole marriage,’ had a full-time maid and ‘seldom was a wife and a mother.’”⁷⁰⁸

Gloria Steinem, a well-known icon and journalist in the women’s liberation movement⁷⁰⁹, was recruited and paid in the late 1950s by the CIA.⁷¹⁰ Mike Wallace of 60 Minutes fame asked Steinem in 1967: “You mean to say it was easier for you to work for the CIA [than the Ford Foundation]?” Steinem responded: “That’s right. And the reason I think that comes as a surprise, as it did to me at the time, I mean I had the conventional liberal’s view of the CIA as a right-wing incendiary group. I was amazed to discover that this was far from the case. They were enlightened, liberal non-partisan activists of the sort who characterize the Kennedy administration.”^{711, 712}

Despite the depiction of women being oppressed, it could be easily said women were deployed expertly to cause dramatic social changes and create conflict points either in response to, or derived from, a globalist desire to alter socio-economic dynamics to hamstring both “enemies” and “friendlies” alike towards their control of humanity ends; often malleable through a problem-reaction-solution, Hegelian model. From the outset of the 1960s through to the late-1970s, the landscape of the United States, underwent a significant social engineering project driven by such institutional and international forces, well-disguised political activism (astroturfing)⁷¹³ and publications to propagandize the population towards perversity and homosexuality (Kinsey Report^{714, 715, 716}), drugs (LSD⁷¹⁷), and yes, even Rock & Roll. Such domestic terraforming occurred in lockstep with United States’s world policing, that allowed women to fill their sexual-liberating whims while their brothers and boyfriends warred towards both the country’s financial detriments and family destruction all in the name of “progress.”

In A Manhood Doctrine, the author wrote (in 2019):

“The central unit of any culture lay in the family. The nuclear one – that of mom, dad, and children – frayed and unraveled with the 2nd wave of feminism that started in the 1960s. One can tie the strands of this decline to The Feminine Mystique published by Betty Friedan in 1963. Thereafter, the Civil Rights Act (1964), sex education (1964), formation of NOW (1966), change of divorce laws in California (1969), Title IX (1972), Roe v. Wade (1973) and culminating with ERA’s failed passage in 1979. Each [extended] right radically promoted pure equality ideals, devaluing responsibility or accountability included in the receiving of them, while social deconstruction merged fatally into their implementations over the past sixty years.

In just a generation, the legal and social landscape, for women, altered significantly; and devalued a family’s value, substituting in the cause of women’s liberation well above it.”⁷¹⁸

Judith A. Reisman, Ph.D. (1935-2021), founder of *The Reisman Institute*⁷¹⁹, and long-time antagonist of Kinsey et.al.^{720, 721}, published her working paper titled “MKUltra, Kinsey and Rockefeller” in August 2020. In her thesis and introduction sections, she wrote:

“For over seven decades, powerful entities prevented official investigation of Dr. Alfred Kinsey and promoted his conclusions as ‘truth’. The result is that public policy, education, and law have been guided by the lies of a psychopathic pedosadist. Instead of protecting children and scaffolding the family, government policy has facilitated the agenda of allied interest groups which benefit personally, financially, and/or politically from sexual exploitation of the vulnerable and the destruction of the nuclear family. Notable among these beneficiaries are the very elites who, wishing to establish a New World Order, initiated and funded Kinsey’s work, sold his lies to the public, and obstructed investigation of Kinsey and the Institute that bears his name and continues his work to this day. Official investigation of Kinsey – and the cultural transformation he set in motion – is long overdue.

From the early decades of the twentieth century, various philanthropic ‘think tanks’ were either founded by or with significant input from the RF [Rockefeller Foundation]. These include; the Council on Foreign Relations (1921), the Tavistock Institute (1934), the United Nations (1945), the Bilderberg Group (1954), the Club of Rome (1968), the Trilateral Commission (1973), as well as various modern ‘philanthropy/social justice’ organizations. The work of these groups form the context for the focus of this study, documenting the launch of RF’s global sexual revolution employing Dr. Alfred Kinsey, of Indiana University as RF’s agent provocateur (6-7).”⁷²²

The rather non-poisonous snake was not avoided and still bit down hard into the fabric of United States. Only its poison was a delayed process to the present day, acting like an indoctrinating virus, that created an alphabet soup of acronyms (ESG, DEI, BLM, LGBTQIA) to match the behemoth bureaucracy. The administrative state is ten times the size of Nazi Germany's heyday (42), numbering 434 agencies.⁷²³ Women may not agree with the characterization here – but social movements cause long-term impacts, good and bad – but these occur: from the Roman Empire through the Middle Ages to Agenda 2030.

Women, it should be noted, are the majority of college graduates⁷²⁴ and employees in the law profession, health, psychology, K-12 teaching⁷²⁵ and lower-level government positions (GS 1-11)⁷²⁶ in the United States. Far from equitable, domination has been a hidden goal by radical feminists. And of late, creating a multiplicity of genders, to muddy the waters, is yet another Marxian tool to propagate bad statistics so that no one can explain them rationally. Women are being erased as well⁷²⁷ – that is by intent – as the ruling elite are homed in on this plank of moral decay.

Though many women make “glass ceiling” claims – such ire never points correctly at the controlling financial racketeers. Instead, the target is a random, lower-class man, without any political, financial or regulatory power. These men do not control public social spaces, unlike women.

This flows from the continual social (and media) engineering to blame a random, representative “male” that has no objective control over women while ignoring an elephant-sized, and obvious, parasitic Globalist Elite (GP) who once funded their meteoric rise to acclaim, but expertly know how to cut off that rise, if such common folks dare to challenge a GP's perpetual power-and-control game. Women are experiencing that now.

No rational person denies women's importance in our society. Their contributions are just as essential to its operation as men's. When merit is used, instead of equality of outcome, people of both sexes, can achieve their best in all fields of endeavors. However, that is not what the Globalists want. Instead these forces want factionalism and criticism of every fundamental human value – motivation, hard work, respect, and ethics – and replace them with divisive tropes, subversion of purposes and victim narratives. (We are all victims – of powerful people that care not what one achieves or wants to do with their thoughts. Sadly, many of these people are called “leaders” because of title, not by their results.)

And as such, 4th wave feminism decoupled itself from the 2nd wave feminist roots. Now splinter groups keenly focused on transgender ploys (men becoming women – much more prevalently) to both erase all the gains in status had by women, while also social engineering a very pliable and indoctrinated youth that consume hours upon hours of social and mainstream media, without much supervision. When not getting fed this military-grade propaganda from TikTok to Instagram, their Marxist-minded teachers, with NGO help (funded by the GP), reinforce this programming with their own chaotic personal takes. The Libs of TikTok account⁷²⁸ followed this phenomenon to the ire of the GP. Who then deploy their well-paid propaganda mavens to do seek-and-destroy missions on anyone reporting on these extreme trends in social engineering targeted directly at American minors.^{729,730}

Stunningly, the U.S. government actively supports all of this – under Joe Biden’s executive orders – who did revoke⁷³¹ and replace what Trump ever attempted to avert these trends through his own executive orders, particularly EO #13985 that formed the 1776 Commission.⁷³² Meanwhile, Joe Biden’s June 15, 2022 EO #14075 deliberately targeted international communities with threats of sanctions if these countries do not comply with the Biden administration’s transgender policies, stating that:

“In developing the action plan, the Secretary of State shall consider the use of United States foreign assistance programs and the United States voice and vote in multilateral development banks and international development institutions of which the United States is a shareholder or donor to take appropriate steps to prevent the use of so-called conversion therapy, as well as to help ensure that United States foreign assistance programs do not use foreign assistance funds for so-called conversion therapy.”⁷³³

World Economic Forum on LGBTI (Note: Africa) 734

Conversion therapy translates to “gender-affirming care” and will be the cudgel used to push forward this agenda that the World Economic Forum has wrapped itself in as well. The CEO of GLAAD, Sara Kate Ellis, co-wrote a piece for the WEF in May 2022, titled, “Why LGBTQ representation should be a priority for business and media.”^{735,736} Such became the standard policy of the Biden administration, hosting the LGBTQIA flag at the U.S. embassies around the world, and in particular, Vatican City for the entire month of June since 2021.^{737, 738}

The White House on June 10, 2023 placed the LGBTQIA flag at the fore, and at equal stature to two United States flags.⁷³⁹ Symbolism, as the political left constantly tells us, matters. A myriad of outlets fact checked any discussion regarding the import of this violation of protocols observed regarding the flying of the United States colors.⁷⁴⁰ But such arguments are not about what is truly messaged here; but our enemies, do note these actions, and respond to them, advantageously.

Such policies have come with direct confrontation and consequences – even if this is just ignored by the Biden administration. The disastrous Afghanistan withdrawal in August 2021 saw the deliberate destruction of the ideological flag of LGBTQIA.^{741, 742} The Taliban took over yet again; and the Chinese cut a $60 billion BRI deal in May 2023 with the long-labeled home of “the graveyard of empires.”^{743,744}

That graveyard claimed women’s rights too. According to Axios, women are back in the stone ages: “[T]he Taliban has barred women from public office, high schools and universities, and many public places, and reinstated strict public dress codes.”⁷⁴⁵

Surrender to the Globalist (GP) ideology...for now. 746

While Biden’s administration busily confuses boys with girls and treats other parts of the globe with contempt and ignorance about their social values⁷⁴⁷, both houses of Congress are inept, corrupted, and globally on-board with this deliberate trans-terraforming of the United States. Congressional silence is legislative complicity.

State legislatures though have responded – at one extreme is California’s AB-957, giving state powers to enforce “gender identity” and “affirming” decisions of pre-pubescent minors or remove them from parent’s care under “health, safety and welfare” edicts^{748,749} – while more than 20 states, passed laws to uphold distinctions of male and female, in sports and healthcare, regarding any minor’s ability to consent to life-altering paths.⁷⁵⁰ On August 30, 2023, Nebraska Governor Jim Pillen signed an executive order declaring a “biological definition of male and female.”⁷⁵¹

The New York Times noted on June 5, 2023, “17 states have enacted bans or significant new restrictions on some or all gender-affirming care for minors, most ending the use of cross-sex hormones and puberty blockers. On Friday, Gov. Greg Abbott signed his state’s bill, making Texas the largest state to ban transition care for minors. Another ban, in Missouri, was signed into law on Wednesday.”⁷⁵² Such bans though are immediately challenged in court by activists that want minors for this new medical market’s profit center. Such occurred in Oklahoma.⁷⁵³

The transgender insertion into the gay and lesbian clustering puts these adult persons into an awkward quandary.⁷⁵⁴ While their allyship depends on clustering themselves with posers, infiltrators, and predators⁷⁵⁵, into their segments, that of bisexuality to homosexuality, these adults are pulled into a maelstrom of mutilation of minors through grooming techniques, such as: trans shows (on military installations⁷⁵⁶); marches that intentionally sexualize minor audiences, the younger, the more traumatized permanently; and publications in schools that promote pornographic material, as a way to indoctrinate kids to obsess over their sexual identities. But these exist due to reasons that coexist in all “movements”, that of: profiteering from propaganda; erasing boundaries that are key to human social interactions, particularly surrounding competition; and building an “underclass” of individuals, coercing societies toward its destruction while the GP profits off the decline.

First, the transgender industry is driven by pharmaceutical, medical, psychological and information agents.⁷⁵⁷ The New York Times wrote, “The American Academy of Pediatrics and the American Medical Association support allowing adolescents to access to this care.”⁷⁵⁸ The AMA argument, made by board member Michael Suk, MD,JD,MPH,MBA, talked about “dangerous intrusion” into “the practice of medicine” and stated firmly, “Gender-affirming care is medically-necessary, evidence-based care that improves the physical and mental health of transgender and gender-diverse people.”⁷⁵⁹

The NIH published studies on gender dysphoria, the underlying psychological issue being exploited, and noted markedly higher levels of suicidal ideation and suicide attempts.^{760,761} A Netherlands longitudinal study, encompassing 45 years (1972-2017), logged 3 to 4 times higher suicide rates versus their country’s non-gender dysphoric population.⁷⁶²

Both dysphoric and normal adolescents, the target for these political forces⁷⁶³, are prone to bouts of depression, anxiety and Cluster B personality disorders⁷⁶⁴ (narcissism), among a basket of observable co-morbidities. These occur especially during their transformative years of puberty, when their decision-making and desires are hardly cemented and are impacted by genetics, environmental factors, and now, most importantly: military-grade, social engineering through social media, education and medical practices has produced a tipping point in society.

Psychiatrists, for instance, note how youth are more neurotically-prone than later in life⁷⁶⁵, and brain development is not fully “rewired” until their mid-20s (25).⁷⁶⁶ In a Neuropsychiatric Disease and Treatment journal article from 2013, it was noted that:

“Longitudinal MRI studies have confirmed that a second surge of neuronal growth occurs just before puberty. This surge is similar to that noticed during infancy and consists of a thickening of the grey matter. Following neuronal proliferation, the brain rewires itself from the onset of puberty up until 24 years old, especially in the prefrontal cortex.”⁷⁶⁷

*Neuropsychiatric Disease and Treatment: Maturation of the adolescent brain*⁷⁶⁸

The most important factors impacting one's identity and growth into a mature adult are: sex hormones (estrogen, progesterone, testosterone), nutritional intake, heredity (genetics) and environment (homelife), and drug abuse, both legal and illegal, from ordinary stimulants to the pharmaceutically exotic – i.e. – from Ambien to fentanyl to SSRIs.⁷⁶⁹

Is it any wonder why such targeting is being done on minors?

By stalling one's psycho-social-emotional development earlier, based on well-established science regarding the underdeveloped, pre-frontal cortex (PFC) as a pre-teen or early teen, such provides a market for: puberty blockers, sex hormones treatments for life, psychiatric services, surgical costs in both removal and reconstruction, group therapy meetings (with other transitioners), post-op psychiatric services and a lifetime of medical follow-ups, for the behavioral stability of this person.

Such behaviors – the daily maintenance regarding medications and known post-op issues – are sold, or marketed, as easy and worthwhile. But all humans run into foreseeable and unforeseeable issues with their behaviors, no matter their identity. A transitioner's consistent behaviors will be unquestionably more substantive, and debilitating, despite the marketing pitches. Their journey is not flowered with primroses; any more than any other human being not born into privilege, or wealth.

A fall 2022 NIH.gov study by Baker and Restar, published in The Journal of Law, Medicine & Ethics called: "Utilization and Costs of Gender-Affirming Care in a Commercial Insured Transgender Population"⁷⁷⁰ provides substantial cost data analysis and notable as well a presentation of exactly when this social engineering on gender escalated from highly unnoticed to a 2023 destructive social virus.

Baker's compiled data lines up well with policy changes regarding Affordable Care Act (2010), Smith-Mundt Modernization Act of 2012 (HR 5736)^{771,772}, regarding U.S. media propaganda, and coincided with a rise in American media's usage of key incendiary terms in their reporting. The overlap here is not coincidental; it is top-down, ESG-driven. 2024 presidential candidate Vivek Ramaswamy and author of Woke Inc. noted this on a September 2022 Dave Rubin podcast. Vivek, and one is paraphrasing here, expressed his published theory on Wall Street and its woke marriage made for money and the moral cleansing of banker's sins:

"It happened in the aftermath of the 2008 crisis...Wall Street realized they could go from being the bad guys, after 2008, to being the good guys... A cynical arranged marriage between two partners that didn't love or respect one another occurred...It was more like mutual prostitution [to get certain things in return]...Ludwig von Mises famous economist said very similar [things]...Capitalism creates a psychological need filled by anti-Capitalism...Capitalism paves the way for socialism (5:43).”⁷⁷³

Going back to Baker and Restar’s NIH study, they wrote in detail about the escalation of surgeries and their 2019 costs:

“Temporal trends in the frequency of gender-affirming surgeries paralleled those of hormone therapy. Throughout the first two decades of [commercially-insured] claims, gender-affirming surgeries were performed infrequently, if at all, but the annual number of procedures performed began to increase around 2011: in 2011, 21 people (0.5% of all transgender people with coverage that year) underwent a gender-affirming surgery, and by 2019, that number had risen to 794 (8%)...The per-episode payer costs of gender-affirming surgeries ranged from $6,927 for orchietomy to $45,080 for vaginoplasty and $63,432 for phalloplasty... As vaginoplasty and phalloplasty were frequently multi-episode procedures, the total average cost of these procedures per person was $53,645 and $133,911, respectively.”⁷⁷⁴

Insider.com published in March 2021 an article titled: “Medical treatments for transgender people in the US can cost over $100K, even with insurance. Here's why they're so expensive.”⁷⁷⁵ In a companion video and transcript, the story starts off with Claire who states that, “I probably have spent upward over $200,000, maybe $300,000, in just medical. It is expensive just to try to be yourself.”⁷⁷⁶

Thereafter, the Insider article offers that “1.4 million patients exist” and quickly attempts to guilt readers by using this framing: “There are surgeries like top and bottom, which can cost over $50,000 each, hair removal, which costs hundreds of dollars a month, and a slew of other expenses that most Americans never have to think about.”⁷⁷⁷ Thus others are considered rude by not thinking at all about this. It is a subtle propagandistic method to garner sympathy for transgenders’ plight.

These are compounding, and escalating costs as of 2023, whether subsidized, or not, by a government, as transgenderism becomes a worldwide phenomenon.⁷⁷⁸ Costs escalate complications as the once minor patient, becomes an adult, and care is no longer a given for the adult. (The author is not saying adults cannot chose to pursue their preference of gender expression. The issue is minor-specific both in surgical and ideological terms.) The financial, social, and spiritual complications, as many find out – and have spoken to this fact – evolve into defamation, isolation and disregard of their journeys.

The Epoch Times produced a documentary “Gender Transformation”⁷⁷⁹ regarding the difficult road trekked in transitioning and de-transitioning. The stories documented are heart-wrenching and show as well how people are manipulated into making decisions they regret shortly after making them, or even many years later. Katherine Welch, a physician in the documentary told Epoch later, “[T]he whole upending of gender and sex becomes the erasure of women and the whole definition of who we are as humans.”⁷⁸⁰

Procedural escalation (NIH Study by Baker and Restar) 781

Such gender ideology did not take place in isolation. Rather, this congealed inside subtle policy changes that had far-reaching consequences with respect to the United States’ overall moral stability.

In May 2022, author Laurie Calhoun wrote on the Smith-Mundt Act impacts, just as Biden’s Administration created, and quickly disbanded, a Disinformation Board to be headed by Nina Jankowicz, a notable enough figure, to be then called: “Scary Poppins.” A Georgetown University grad (CIA agent development university), Jankowicz labeled the Hunter Biden laptop a “Trump Campaign product”⁷⁸², a decidedly disinformation campaign that even The New York Times eventually caved in and admitted Hunter’s emails were authenticated.⁷⁸³

Calhoun provides a recount on recent U.S. propaganda forays and how such techniques are used to subvert populations with thousands of government (and now) private companies controlled by such U.S. Agencies, feeding information agents (IA) narratives to spread.

“All of this mayhem got underway in the early twenty-first century with the government ‘apprising’ citizens that Saddam Hussein had WMD (weapons of mass destruction) and was in cahoots with Osama bin Laden. Through such ‘intelligence community findings,’ citizens were deceived by ‘the experts’ into believing that Iraq had something to do with 9/11 and therefore was fair game for attack in 2003. There can be little doubt that in the aftermath of the events of September 11, 2001, politicians' and the populace's critical faculties were compromised by the shock of what happened on that day, which best explains why they were so receptive to propaganda at the time.

Two decades later, George W. Bush, despite having wrecked much of the Middle East, now consults with and expresses enthusiastic support for Ukraine's President Zelensky, who is, according to Bush, 'the Winston Churchill of our time.' This farcical scenario serves above all to distract the discombobulated citizenry's attention from the fact that Bush's own invasion of Iraq bore similarities, not only to Putin's invasion of Ukraine, but also, yes, to Hitler's various military escapades. All of these leaders' campaigns were aggressive attacks on sovereign nations during peacetime.

How did we come to inhabit a society in which the government itself continually carries out psyops against the populace? There is a general sense in which the use of propaganda to manipulate the citizenry has always gone on—above all, during wartime—despite the fact that it undermines democracy by compromising the ability to ascertain the truth and freely to support policies, rather than being coerced through deception. A close examination of history (between the lines of textbooks written by spokespersons for the victors) reveals that the same sorts of mendacious tactics have been used by government officials and military leaders in their promotion and prolongation of most, if not all, wars. Fear is a powerful molder of minds, making citizens more, not less, receptive to leaders' lies.

It is also true, however, that in 2013 President Barack Obama signed into law the Smith-Mundt Modernization Act (H.R. 5736), making it legal for government-produced media—such as was broadcast overseas by Voice of America, Radio Free Europe, and other outlets throughout the Cold War—to be directed toward U.S. citizens themselves. Needless to say, such government-penned narratives spin the news so as to reflect favorably upon the United States. To understand the sheer power of the Smith-Mundt Modernization Act, it suffices to do a quick Google of the name of this piece of legislation to see how it has generated a logical quandary befitting of Orwell's Nineteen Eighty-Four. For if it is true that the American people are being propagandized by the U.S. government through its control of the major media outlets and tech giants, then any assertion to that effect will be countered—and ultimately defeated—by yet more government propaganda."⁷⁸⁴

Calhoun noted that the Pentagon (as of 2009) employed 27,000 as full-time war marketeers.⁷⁸⁵ Bernays, that master of propaganda, remarked about such expert usage to control the population for war, or peace purposes. As the Twitter Files noted, the FBI had a decided impact on pre-Elon Musk owned operations throughout the 2020 election cycle.⁷⁸⁶

This transgender warfare turns as well on the inputs of media-driven propaganda through (IA) that has become the entire month of June in the United States regarding “pride month.” In 2023, this started up earlier from an InBev product (BlackRock and WEF-aligned) Bud Light promotional video with Dylan Mulvaney.⁷⁸⁷ The month saw more transgender sexualizing through video showing chaos and assaults against anyone (including former allies) not promoting the approved trans-narratives.⁷⁸⁸

Note: Gen Z was 10 to 15 years old in 2012.⁷⁹⁰

Because of the aforementioned high suicide impacts (and various longitudinal studies that are readily dismissed by medical doctors as reasons to do such transitions earlier – coming from the very people most enriched to provide services, including the late-life transitioning Assistant HHS Secretary, pediatric and psychiatric doctor Rachel Levine in the Biden administration⁷⁹¹), this smacks of hypocrisy and craven self-interest. It certainly beggar’s belief that “science” is the driving force, though that may be such the case as will reason ahead for the GP’s long-game at hand.

Dr. Levine said, “It’s such an important issue for our youth and adults. As you said, some of these laws are extending into adulthood. We often say that gender-affirming care is health care—gender-affirming care is mental health care—and gender-affirming care is literally suicide-prevention care.”⁷⁹² Levine was lauded by the propagandist outlet USA Today as a part of their “women of the year” announcement in 2022.

Levine’s boss, Xavier Becerra, at the Aspen Institute, plans to use Medicare funding to coerce hospitals to “offer gender-affirming care”⁷⁹³ even as various courts and state legislatures set up roadblocks recently.

To underline a key point here: Medical treatments that one can receive once they reach their legal majority (18)⁷⁹⁴, would undoubtedly diminish in number if these surgeries, pharmaceutical products and profits made from getting to these confused souls earlier did not exist. The pathway though has been to identify weakened family structure (and the child) for such promulgation of need to an industry’s sole benefit.

The commercial medical insurance on such treatments prefers minors over adults (as minors will be covered by their parents’ insurance) – or even through government medical requirements (ACA) with equally coercive tactics regarding parental rights. Such decisions attach to the “health, welfare and safety” stipulations embedded in bills such as California’s AB-957 which passed both houses on September 6, 2023.⁷⁹⁵

In a TransHealthCare article from 2019, this was noted: “While some of this growth can be attributed to changing societal attitudes and a greater buy-in from the medical community, it was broader insurance coverage beginning in 2014 that tipped the scales and kick-started the development of transgender surgery programs at medical centers across the country.”

Citing JAMA, the Journal of American Medical Association, a November 2018 publication noted that:

“The number of patients seeking these procedures who were covered by Medicare or Medicaid increased from 2012 to 2014 by 3-fold...

As coverage for these procedures increases, likely so will demand for qualified surgeons to perform them...

Most transgender patients in this national sample undergoing inpatient gender-affirming surgery were classified as self-pay; however, an increasing number of transgender patients are being covered by private insurance, Medicare, or Medicaid. As coverage for these procedures increases, likely so will demand for qualified surgeons to perform them.”⁷⁹⁶

Moreover, later, if these persons ever want to procreate, the service needs to achieve that will be costly; and also, highly profitable.⁷⁹⁷ This too serves Agenda 2030 as well – creating a reoccurring cash flow that stifles a person’s savings while profiteering off psychologically manipulating minors; or nearly as abusive, the adults. As well as reducing population growth to meet the objectives of wealthy persons involved in this plan.

During the recent chaos that was COVID, disruption of education and socialization was catastrophic to learning, but helpful to forces seeking new clients as a profit center. The educational field was routinely documented by The Libs of TikTok as promoting full-on gender dysphoria in their pupils. More notably, studies show autistic minors (undiagnosed) are more susceptible to manipulations⁷⁹⁸ by those with an agenda. Often, these promoters are themselves propagandized, and highly political, seeking to create more activists in their image.⁷⁹⁹

The Libs of TikTok: Boston Children’s Advertised Agenda 800

A host of medical centers from Vanderbilt to Boston Children's to Johns Hopkins desired to up their transgender clientele.⁸⁰¹ Unbiased studies on gender change operations – don't support this is evidence-based; it is market-driven by the richest, most powerful and their luxury beliefs.⁸⁰²

Those luxury beliefs fuel this powerful social contagion. Rob Henderson, PhD candidate, coined the term, and wrote routinely on the subject:

“The chief purpose of luxury beliefs is to indicate evidence of the believer's social class and education. Only academics educated at elite institutions could have conjured up a coherent and reasonable-sounding argument for why parents should not be allowed to raise their kids, and that we should hold baby lotteries instead. Then there are, of course, certain beliefs. When an affluent person advocates for drug legalization, or defunding the police, or open borders, or loose sexual norms, or white privilege, they are engaging in a status display. They are trying to tell you, ‘I am a member of the upper class.’”⁸⁰³

The impact of the class-conscious, luxury-belief class is seen in the “identity crisis” promoted now by the powerful medical agencies in D.C. The more promoted – creating markets as Edward Bernays did for women's smoking through Hollywood films – the more funding flows and more advocacy groups grow to drive this virus based off virtue signaling and generic classism. By using captured institutions and information agents, to sow this further, these draconian policies are enforced on the less well-off populations, eventually by force of law.

GLAAD issued a statement signed by 250 Hollywood celebrities and operators on June 27, 2023: “LGBTQ Celebrities & Allies Call on Instagram, Facebook, YouTube, TikTok, and Twitter to Stop the Flow of Anti-Trans Hate & Malicious Disinformation About Trans Healthcare.”⁸⁰⁴ GLAAD's letter reads in part:

“As celebrities, influencers, and prominent public figures with significant followings on social media, we the undersigned are calling on Instagram, Facebook, YouTube, TikTok, and Twitter to fulfill the promises you've made to transgender, nonbinary, gender non-conforming and all LGBTQ users in your terms of service. There has been a massive systemic failure to prohibit hate, harassment, and malicious anti-LGBTQ disinformation on your platforms and it must be addressed.

Dangerous posts (both content and ads) created and circulated by high-follower anti-LGBTQ hate accounts targeting transgender, nonbinary, and gender non-conforming people are thriving across your platforms, directly resulting in terrifying real-life harm including bomb threats targeting children's hospitals that offer healthcare for trans youth, and death threats targeting care providers.

This disinformation and hate, inadequately moderated on your platforms, plays an outsized role in the sharp increase in real-world anti-transgender targeting and violence. As documented by the Human Rights Campaign Foundation in 2022, this is particularly the case when it comes to the online extremists leading proactive coordinated campaigns of hate and lies about gender affirming healthcare for trans youth. Despite the fact that every leading medical and psychological association affirms the safety and necessity of gender affirming healthcare for trans people, including youth, inflammatory disinformation falsely asserting that this healthcare is dangerous is allowed to fester on your platforms because it drives clicks and profit.”⁸⁰⁵

Reliance on the leading medical and psychological institutions and labeling anything disliked as “disinformation” increasingly becomes the go-to maneuver pushing the United States towards a totalitarian regime run solely for the elite, by the elite, and of the elite's interests. Such interests isolate and smear rational doctors and thought leaders.

In a telling interview, “Dr. Michelle Cretella is a pediatrician who was formerly the Executive Director of the American College of Pediatrics. She was one of the first doctors to speak out on gender ideology and because of that has been labeled every name on the book by the usually suspects like the SPLC, Mother Jones and their ilk who are the real extremists when it comes to this pernicious ideology,” as Josh Walkos, a Twitter account, posted a 27-minute interview with the doctor from November 2017.⁸⁰⁶

Dr. Cretella noted care resources found at bestforchildren.org [acped.org] which provides child-centered services. In this interview, she discussed rationally how this is “child abuse” and “gaslighting” kids from an early age, creating the inability to discern or test their reality appropriately. Teachers are using methodologies to whittle down a minor's fragile mindset in order to confuse them about their sex through introduction of “gender bending” books and propaganda devices.⁸⁰⁷

Dr. Cretella stated that:

“So transgender ideology -- yes, it's child abuse because we are gaslighting our children. And now that they're thoroughly confused they will think that they really are the opposite sex and will be sent down a medical pathway. As they approach puberty, they will be put on puberty blockers and then on cross-sex hormones. That combination will permanently sterilize most, if not all, of those children and also puts them at risk for heart disease, diabetes, and various cancers. If girls have been on testosterone, which is their sex change hormone, for a full-year, by age 16 they can get a double mastectomy. So, gaslighting, pubertal castration and surgical mutilation: It's institutionalized child abuse.”⁸⁰⁸

Dr. Cretella remarks on how the distinctions of human biology:

“We're at a point now in which we have documented at least 6,500 genetic differences between men and women.⁸⁰⁹ Men and women cannot be treated the same in medicine. Because of these genetic differences women are more prone to autoimmune diseases than men are. We must approach our patients in accordance with their biology, not in accordance with their perceptions which are delusional.”⁸¹⁰

The formation of gender ideology came about as an excuse for performing surgeries and selling of hormones, rather than from a scientific basis in human biology. Dr. Cretella remarked on the history regarding this phenomenon:

“Gender as a term, prior to the 1950s:

#1. Did not refer to people;

#2. Was not in the medical literature.

Sexologists were PhDs and MDs in the 50s who were taking people who believed they were transsexuals (the term was transsexual at the time), mostly men who wanted to be women, and basically invented the so-called ‘sex reassignment surgery.’

Amongst themselves in the 50s, they said, ‘What are we treating? How are we going to justify this?’ because they knew full well even then that sex is in the DNA and that mutilating the body does not change a person's sex. They basically looked at the word gender, which meant male and female referring to grammar.

So in the 1950s, one of the sexologists at the time was Dr. John Money. And they said, ‘We're gonna take gender and say that for people it means ‘the social expression of an internal sex identity.’”

That's what we're treating. They pulled it out of the air to justify lining their pockets to do mutilating surgeries. And this is the very same definition that the activists are using. It has no basis in reality.”⁸¹¹

Non-doctors dove deeply into the history of who developed the ideas behind transgenderism. Matt Walsh, a conservative filmmaker at The Daily Wire of *What Is A Woman?*⁸¹², addressed this topic repeatedly. In a social media thread, he listed the key thought “leaders” behind this:

“John Money pioneered the concept of ‘gender identity.’ He tried out his theory on twin boys, who he abused and experimented on throughout their childhood. They both went on to kill themselves.

Alfred Kinsey is the godfather of modern ‘comprehensive sex ed’ programs. He came up with many of the theories of sexuality that are now taught as fact in our schools. He also enlisted a pedophile who raped children so that he could document the victims’ ‘orgasms.’

Volkmar Sigusch was a sexologist who coined the term ‘cissexual.’ He argued in favor of exposing children to pornography and insisted that pedophilia should not be stigmatized. This latter point was a common belief among many pioneers of the trans movement.

Magnus Hirschfeld. Another German sexologist. He opened one of the world’s first transgender clinics. He was an avid proponent of eugenics and believed in forcibly sterilizing those who were ‘feeble-minded.’ The Nazis would later implement eugenics on a massive scale.

Erwin Gohrbandt. A leading scientist in Nazi Germany who performed one of the first ‘sex reassignment’ surgeries. He helped design human experiments that were carried out on prisoners at Dachau.”⁸¹³

Genieve Gluck of ReduXX.info and Women’s Voices, wrote an insightful history on Volkmar Sigusch’s thoughts and ideas called: “Cis’ Coined by ‘Pedosexual’ Apologist.”⁸¹⁴ Passages reflect Germany’s extreme policy stances and abusive thinking on children and promoted endangerment:

“Looking at the history of pro-pedophilia policies and attitudes in Germany during the 60’s - 80’s, it’s clear that Sigusch is far from an isolated advocate, and that he was simply attempting to popularize ideas that already existed.

In the late 60’s and early 70’s, German sexologists began to view sexual relations with children as progressive rather than abusive. So pervasive was the cultural trend towards the social liberation of pedophilia that even Germany’s Green Party advocated for the abolition of Paragraph 176 of the German Criminal Code, which criminalized sexual activity with children below the age of 14.

One key figure behind an open cultural acceptance of pedophilia in Germany was Volkmar Sigusch’s contemporary, the Berlin-based sexologist Helmut Kentler. Kentler placed foster children in the homes of pedophiles beginning in 1969 for the purpose of facilitating child sexual abuse, a project later known as the ‘Kentler Experiment’ or the ‘Kentler Project’.”⁸¹⁵ [My emphasis.]

Gluck notes the work of Dagmar Herzog, and her book, Sex After Fascism, where: “Sigusch and his colleague Schmidt also argued that exposing children to pornography – a well-known grooming tactic of pedophiles – was harmless.”⁸¹⁶ Such is the perverse mindset of the notable European and German researchers.

These, one argues, influence the luxury beliefs held by Washington, D.C.’s elite on transgender and other salient issues (policing). Joe Biden has signed four executive orders that mention either “transgender” or “gender identity” in the title. (#14075, 14021, 14020, 13988.)

Feminist and investigative journalist Jennifer Bilek⁸¹⁷ in an interview titled, “Who is Behind the Trans Agenda?” provided a broad overlay of the legal, business and ideological forces that are connected to billionaires and transhumanists.⁸¹⁸ She remarks that:

“Everyone is profiteering off this now. Even if they have no idea what its about, you know, transgender modeling agencies, gender fluid make-up photographers taking pictures of transgender children...

And the same message is being driven into their grade schools. By second grade, they are learning about gender identity, taking hormones, and this is all brought in under anti-bullying programs.

These programs were passed by Obama and funded by the Pritzker family, one of most wealthy families in America...Jennifer Pritzker was an Army Colonel. He purports to be a female and runs around with synthetic sex [SSI] characteristics of a female. He drives this ideology into the psychiatric department of major universities, into other medical institutions, gender hospitals and the military.

And his company, Tawani Foundation⁸¹⁹, is partnered with Squadron Capital which [funds]⁸²⁰ medical device companies. So he’s following the same trajectory of the Arcus Foundation.⁸²¹ Stryker Medical is a medical supply corporation.

And they’re going to be profiting off of these surgeries, not just, so-called gender surgeries but human augmentation. When we open the door to these kind of radical changes to our biology, you know, the way that we’re planted in the ecosphere, you know, once we let that go, that tether, anything is up for grabs.

They can manipulate your DNA...And that’s why these rights are, I mean, from what I can tell, these...gender rights are being passed.”

Squadron Charitable Trust, for a decade has funded “an Ortho Pediatric fellowship in pediatric orthopedics at Boston Children’s Hospital.”^{822,823} The Gates Foundation funded Boston Children’s with over $50,000,000 during the last fifteen years. Nearly half of that total granted came since 2020.

On the international front, “The Bank of England stated that people of any gender identity can become pregnant.”⁸²⁴ The Bank’s view garnered inclusion as 57th rated company in a top 100 employer list that Stonewall, a LGBT lobby group compiled in 2022. To achieve this, these bankers got deeply involved in meetings and email chains to that be a part of a “recruitment system” and “quantitative targets” in respect of LGBT employees and focus on “people of faith.”⁸²⁵

As Bilek discussed, there is a well-hidden sinisterness to all of this: Genetic engineering is not fiction. Biomedical engineers are building on the CRISPR CAS9 eureka⁸²⁷, that of gene editing and control of species populations, starting with flies and bugs, and working up to human embryos as the Chinese achieved in November 2018.⁸²⁸ These bio-scientists can manipulate, for a high-market price at present, the genetic make-up of all people at the embryonic stage, and after birth as well. (Though less efficiently and effectively than desired.)

This gene editing is seen as the foundation for fixing Humanity. To crack the code of God in the hubris that humans can be readily improved upon merely by enhancing targeted DNA. This is the next stage after the lopping-off-their-genitals-fad fades. But as for the present: Synthetic sex identification (SSI) is to normalize such manipulations of humans.

The repercussions cannot be overstated: gene editing comes with impacts we do not have the ethics, the desire to reverse, or even the comprehension to unravel if these modifications go astray. Black swan events happen – as we are always facing a probability for World War – and thus, scientists dying in that war, would leave a knowledge gap: or worse, a created genetic “being” prior to, or out of such a war, that such manipulations birth an “enhanced” intellect but with a clever coldness never seen on this Earth. (The improving IQ topic was discussed in a 2019 Purdue University CRISPR presentation, called “What if Breakthrough Technologies Could Make Us Smarter.”⁸²⁹) That new being would likely seek to hide such a vast differential – undoubtedly – and before long, may hold substantially different views on human biological necessity to this planet.

And for those thinking otherwise: why would such a being not? Lesser intellects with evil designs have routinely walked this Earth within the timeframe of the last century.

A second conflict arises from inherent biological differences⁸³⁰ prior to transitioning that make for conflict in Title IX sports endeavors, causing violent destruction to both women’s sports records⁸³¹ and their fractured skulls.⁸³² Though the media agents (IA) attempt to dismiss or disinfo people away from any of those blatantly obvious assertions.

The Daily Signal published the personal account of University of Kentucky’s Riley Gaines interaction with this decoupling from reality. Gaines spoke out about Lia Thomas, a biological male that is on estrogen treatments (transwoman), who defeated her in NCAA swim meets before a Senate Judiciary committee. She discussed how the locker room issue made her uncomfortable as it would to an ordinary soul:

“You’re undressing, you’re fully exposed, and we were forced to take off our swimsuit in front of a man, who was doing the exact same thing.

If nothing else, I truly hope you-all, you can see this is a violation of our right to privacy and how some of us have felt uncomfortable, embarrassed, and even traumatized by this experience.”⁸³³

Riley noted the unfairness, the competitive advantage of such males:

“I saw the tears from the ninth and 17th place finishers, who missed out on being named an All-American by one place. And I can attest to the extreme discomfort in the locker room, from these 18- to 22-year-old girls, when you turn around and there’s male eyes watching in that same room.”⁸³⁴

Such biological and performance enhancements were, twenty or more years ago, a major concern. One is speaking of steroid usage and other techniques to garner an unfair advantage (EPO training).⁸³⁵ The Olympics and MLB took particularly umbrage with athletes utilizing enhancers, going back into the Cold War era, regarding the East German swimmers at the 1976 Montreal Olympics⁸³⁶; and Barry Bonds and Mark McGwire’s demolishing of long-standing home run records while on the “cream” or the “clear”⁸³⁷, for Barry Bonds, tied to the BALCO case.

In the former case, 167 athletes were “systematically doped” from 1973 to 1989 and received compensation. Though, this number only scratches the surface. East German files noted over 10,000 were selected for the program, most unknowingly and without parental consent. According to Swimmer World Magazine’s 2013 investigation, “Many of the women have gone on to experience psychological problems or have delivered children with birth defects from the after-effects of doping.”⁸³⁸

During the Montreal Olympics, U.S. swimmer Shirley Babashoff alleged correctly that growth hormones were used by the East Germans. Like Riley Gaines, the media branded Babashoff a poor sportsperson.⁸³⁹ Rumors circulated years prior to the source of East Germany’s recording-breaking feats. A 1973 Paris newspaper, France-Soir, called the new weapon in sports, “ [a] vaccine against fatigue.”⁸⁴⁰

The current issue is more extreme with males entering into Olympics sports. Laurel Hubbard was added to New Zealand’s weightlifting team for the 2020 Tokyo games.⁸⁴¹ Others throughout the United States, from Connecticut to Montana and beyond, find males operating in female sports to young girls physical, emotional and psychological dispiriting. The Biden Administration from his first day in office threatened the withholding of federal funding from schools that disallowed transgender males to compete in female sports in EO#13988.^{842,843}

The third and most important aspect, targeting minors, down to their pre-teens, assures these are life-altering and sterilizing; and are Munchausen's by proxy-driven, the creating or encouraging a gender-identity disorder through false presentation of symptoms, deceit, or for no apparent benefit.⁸⁴⁴ It is inconceivable why anyone believes a minor child, and frankly, an adult teenager, has the needed intellectual capacity to make such disastrous choices about their sexuality based on a slanted, self-serving (for the promoters) idea of what is deemed: "gender fluidity."

NBC News on June 27 ran interference for a LGBTQIA New York City march that chanted the phrase, "coming for your children." On Twitter, this once venerable news organization, stated that:

"The "coming for your children" chant has been used for years at Pride events, according to longtime march attendees and gay rights activists, who said it's one of many provocative expressions used to regain control of slurs against LGBTQ people."⁸⁴⁵

The accompanying article, written by Tyler Kingkade, further noted that:

"To conservative pundits, activists and lawmakers, the video confirmed the allegations they've levied in recent years that the LGBTQ community is 'grooming' children.

But to Brian Griffin, the original organizer of the NYC Drag March, if that's the worst they heard, it's only because he wasn't there this year.

Griffin said he chanted obscene things in the past, like 'Kill, kill, kill, we're coming to kill the mayor,' and joked about pubic hair and sex toys during marches. People at the Drag March regularly sing 'God is a lesbian.'

'It's all just words,' Griffin said. 'It's all presented to fulfill their worst stereotypes of us.'^{846,847}

Inside the Libraries of America: Libs of Tik Tok Montage of Content 848

There is substantial evidence that such forces are doing those exact activities, that of grooming from New York City to Austin, Texas. Moreover, the left, ideologically speaking, routinely and unfailingly says words matter, but then when calling them into question about their rhetorical choices, will dismiss these claims as nothing; or deflect from them with even more outrageous statements to distract from the issue presented. Similar stereotypes, made by them, are applied to conservatives.

But these socially engineered trends run in exact parallel as to why the Global Elite (GP) do this: to have foot soldiers for their ideological and military wars, for profiteering from the misery they cause, and to enslave people with a lifetime (no matter what its duration) with health and debt problems.

Using transvestites, dressing up and masking their identities and personal histories, to groom children and peddle poisonous propaganda to narcissistic parents, it appears, makes this author cringe at the world we are creating daily by standing by and doing nothing about it. Relevant here is the underlying methodology that operates off the 1930s model of totalitarian aggression as U.S. historian Carroll Quigley wrote in Tragedy and Hope (1966):

“From the broadest point of view, the aggressor of 1931-1941 were attacking the whole nineteenth century way of life and some of the most fundamental attributes of Western Civilization itself. They were in revolt against democracy, against the parliamentary system, against laissez faire and the liberal outlook, against nationalism (although in the name of nationalism), against humanitarianism, against science, and against all respect for human dignity and human decency. It was an attempt to brutalize men into a mass of unthinking atoms whose reactions could be controlled by methods of mass communications and directed to increase the profits and power of an alliance of militarist, heavy-industrialists, landlords, and psychopathic political organizers recruited from the dregs of society. That the society which they came to control could have created such dregs, men who were totally untouched by the traditions of Western Civilization and who were restrained by no social relationships at all, and that it could have allow the militarist and industrialists to use these dregs as an instrument for seizing control of the state raise profound doubts about the nature of that society and about its real allegiance to the traditions to which it paid lip service.”⁸⁴⁹

The transgenderism movement is a re-tooling of building up psychopathic political organizers recruited from the fringes of society by the militaristic and modern equivalency of such industrialists: big tech and big pharma. The seizing control of institutions – health, education and even law – to placate these “men” playing women (primarily), to garner entryism of even deeper perversions against traditions is not a bug of the system, it’s the main feature. This feature followed on from a pattern that Marxist-trained BLM dregs decided works, creating a destructive path for Western Civilization. Such was observed in a U.K. Daily Mail headline regarding a Philadelphia July 4, 2023 shooting spree as a, “Cross-dressing gunman behind July 4 Philly bloodbath that left five dead is BLM supporter who made chilling Facebook posts about 'black massacres' and 'evil spirits'.”⁸⁵⁰ Just weeks prior, the first transgender elected representative from New Hampshire, born Barry Charles Laughton, Jr., was arrested on child pornography charges.⁸⁵¹

The Supreme Court opened up the flood gates to this massive alteration by allowing in fascism directly through the election door in their Citizens United decision.⁸⁵² In letting multi-national corporations (MNC) directly fund elections, such as Facebook's Mark Zuckerberg did in 2020 (even if done through NGOs), the common people are voters had at a pittance. These billionaire-led advocacy groups buy off people and promote radical ideas. Then, through ballot harvesting, drop boxes, and polling place control – their foot soldiers operate as a paramilitary force of the extreme ideologists that can deploy such billions, whether named Soros, Gates, or Zuckerberg.

Akin to Hitler's rise, getting corporate conservatives (the German National Party of the time (201)⁸⁵³) and radical socialist elements (the Nazis prior to their acquisition of power were not substantially further afield from their communist compatriots, economically speaking) to congeal the Nationalist Socialists' might, this path took less than a decade of time to install.

Shirer, in The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich, noted this with Hitler's final death stroke to Weimar Republic and its constitution (199-200):

“The Social Democrats, who bore a heavy responsibility for the weakening of the Republic, would at least stick to the principles and go down – this one time – defiantly. But not the Center Party, which once had successfully defied the Iron Chancellor in the Kulturkampf. Monsignor Kaas, the party leader, had demanded a written promise from Hitler that he would respect the President's power of veto. [Hindenburg] But though promised before voting, it was never given...

Thus was parliamentary democracy finally interred in Germany. Except for the arrests of the Communists and some of the Social Democrats deputies, it was all done quite legally, though accompanied by terror. Parliament had turned over its constitutional authority to Hitler and thereby committed suicide, though its body lingered on in an embalmed state to the very end of the Third Reich...

To be sure, completely under the Nazi heel...this also was accomplished with breathless speed and with crudeness, trickery and brutality. ‘The street gangs’ in the words of Alan Bullock, ‘had seized control of the resources of a great modern State, the gutter had come to power.’⁸⁵⁴

Such cohesive acts occurred in the 2020 election, but with more rapidity. Molly Bally, Nancy Pelosi's biographer, wrote a tell-all about this in Time. Ball's article, titled, “The Secret History of the Shadow Campaign That Saved the 2020 Election,”⁸⁵⁵ promoted the cross-party compromises made from diverse views (allegedly) naming the direct conspirators to overthrow Donald John Trump and insert one Joseph Robinette Biden.

Elections do have consequences – as elected Democrats brazenly spit on the U.S. Constitution’s legal tenets⁸⁵⁶, violating both the letter and the spirit of the law, while elected Republicans silently idle by, or pay cursory lip service to such tenets to garner a better-than-communism vote from their frustrated constituencies when the time comes. Do not be fooled: in D.C., the elected are more alike than different; and are world’s different ideologically from the common man which may explain the lack of curiosity in investigating election frauds. They benefited personally from the frauds. Election security measures are incompetent at best, and criminal at worst, as one will discuss in a later chapter.

Presently, the rapid rise of transgenderism^{857,858}, with massive corporate involvement⁸⁵⁹, leads one to believe there is future conflict agitating. This is due to a complete abdication of necessary principles regarding personal boundaries and the values of the human normative, regarding sex and sexuality. These biological principles and values are not for any corporation to promote against, nor any country to proselytize for in the world community. Nevertheless, these forces are working hand-in-hand.

All total, such occurs as billionaire and politically-controlled intel-agency-media feed populations lie after lie after Big Lie. This keeps easily-agitated voting blocs hyper-stimulated towards grievance tropes (reparations, LGBTQ rights); scapegoating one man (Trump) and his cast of lesser characters (attached to him by legal jeopardy); while massive bureaucratic and political forces in place since the 1970s (through the Bushes, Clintons, Bidens, et. al.), are renowned for their contempt of process and justice when it does not suit their own personal agendas.

Such naked contempt came out vividly in late June in 2022 and 2023 with rulings on abortion, affirmative action and freedom of association and enterprise activities. On abortion, the issue was deemed a state matter, nullifying 50 years of bad legal precedent. This issue – the taking of a human embryo (a life) – would no longer be under federal guidelines, allowing each state to make their laws on the issue. Immediately, women’s rights group took such a decision to hyperbolize their ongoing stance that “abortion is healthcare,” even if done well into the 3rd trimester; or even right up to birth. “Care” being the syllable that is substantially questioned as personal regrets and issues, post-abortion, inevitably may haunt a woman regarding her choice to extinguish a life, whether it occurs early or late.

The neoconservatives, in Republican-led states, made political errors immediately. One would offer these are done strategically to further destruct the populist movement, in pushing forth new draconian laws – arrest and criminal prosecution for an aborted child – onto the woman.

This political tactic will not win votes, nor does it understand what SCOTUS ruling provided for. Such positioning of abortions as ripe for a criminalizing legal stance further polarizes a country that needs a way back from the boundaries of extreme thought on abortions.

Doctors in these matters have lost their moral foundations here as well. Moving away from extreme positions, late-term abortions or legal jeopardy for complications in a pregnancy, towards a coherent consensus and life-affirming thesis: to avoid as many abortions as medically possible, while noting that instances of rape and incest do occur – and should be assessed within a woman’s mental state and logical decisions made as key factors. In short, taking a life should not be an easy task; and not without a sound legal rationale behind it, a balanced perspective.

The affirmative action decision addressed the stark reality of imposing a selection bias based on characteristics that no one uniquely controls – race or socio-economic factors – instead of merit-based. Merit should be the overriding measure of one’s acceptability and selection for any position. Those on the left on the political spectrum want to keep a biased system that will never solve the underlying issues of disparate outcomes.

The root cause of this imbalance starts with a family staying unified. Support systems are built from a foundation of trust at the earliest age of development. It is not a money issue; though social engineers – and there are many – want money as the issue so their hands can dive into the trough first and pull such resources towards their own costly solutions and corrupted hands.

A better answer has people (in that family) acting responsibly; choosing their partners deliberately; raising their kids with the values of hard work, critical thinking, reading self-reinforcing ideas and applying those ideas into a broad environment where answers come in small changes and through practical solutions.

The freedom to do such these things are at loggerheads to the D.C. luxury belief-having class that undoubtedly know their answers are vapid and serve only their desires for power and control. Having freedom of association as well and building business enterprises from a childhood age (lemonade stands, mowing companies, new computer apps) challenges the established dogma of the Department of Education and the teacher’s unions supported vocally (and monetarily) by the D.C. regime to impose a praxis that creates mindless soldiers willing to obey illogical orders from a government made of unelected bureaucrats.

On July 4, 2023 a court decision, regarding U.S. departments use of social media to censor opinions, enjoined the Biden Administration, particularly regarding medical opinions.⁸⁶⁰ As the last decade in the United States has shown, the forces in Washington, in academia, in big tech and with COVID, big medicine has made it their overarching goal to control information at all costs. The number of outlets, non-profits and government employees contracted into the “disinformation” field in recent years speaks to the obsessive desire to control what the population believes and says online no matter the destruction it causes. This case was moved forward (a writ of certiorari) to be heard and decided in the spring of 2024. Sadly, the stay of injunction was lifted, allowing Biden’s administration to continue its operations, until a “final” decision.^{861, 862}

With the election of Trump, and his labeling of information agents as “Fake News,” this pronouncement triggered the entirety of the D.C. media-intel apparatus. From there, whatever one thinks of Trump and his policies, the administrative state went to work to undermine his moves when this bolstered their positioning. (The bureaucratic acquiescence to Trump, at times, was not by accident; it was because an executive order or policy assisted other agendas that Trump likely knew nothing about – or was not privy to it.) To quote former Democrat Senate Majority leader Harry Reid, “Give him fake briefings...He won’t know the difference.”⁸⁶³ This was the about candidate Trump – but it stands to reason this was the ongoing policy for dealing with President Trump.

For better or worse, people now are aware that their class-conscious betters have neither the personal values nor integrity to allow U.S. citizens to decide openly what is true and accurate versus what is deceptive and misleading. California is the testing ground for a host of such laws – transgender, imposed medical care and information control on doctors – to erase Constitutional protections all persons should value. This ongoing battle has the potential to rip the United States apart.

Trump is no paragon of truth; but in a town severely warped by its own lies and history, Trump was substantially more blunt and direct about the path the country is trekking since the turn of the century than the people in media, intel and politics can seemingly stomach. Such Trumpian bluntness now has its merits to Chamath Palihapitiya, a Democrat-voting billionaire⁸⁶⁴⁸⁶⁵, who was at Facebook (2007-11) before launching Social Capital. Palihapitiya raised his grade on Trump from an “F” to a “B/B+” after living through the last seven years. Meanwhile, Trump’s current political opponent, and legal nemesis through the DOJ, Biden (and his family) have a half-century of deception and dealings that need a thorough expose as money, emails, and deep ties to U.S. adversaries and manipulators should worry not just Americans, but the entire world.⁸⁶⁶
